…INA.

WHEREAS the Ship HOPEWELL, THOMAS ASH, Master, hath lately arrived in this Province from Belfast, having on board a Number of Paſſengers, among whom the SMALL-POX broke out during the Voyage; and in order to prevent the Contagion ſpreading in this Province, his EXCELLENCY the GOVERNOR has been pleaſed to ORDER the ſaid Ship to anchor in Rebellion-Road, and the Paſſengers to remain on board of her, or at the PEST-HOUSE on Sullivan's-Iſland, in order that the ſaid Ship and the Cloaths of the Paſſengers may be thoroughly purified, before ſhe or they be permitted to come to Charles-Town: I DO HEREBY GIVE PUBLIC NOTICE thereof, that ALL PERSONS may refrain from going on board the ſaid SHIP, or to the ſaid ISLAND, during the Time it ſhall be judged neceſſary for the ſaid Paſſengers and Ship's Crew to remain there. AND WHEREAS ſeveral Perſons have preſumed to go on board the ſaid Ship, and other Veſſels liable to perform Quarantine, and afterwards to come on ſhore, whereby dangerous and infectious Diſtempers are liable to be brought into this Province: THIS IS to forewarn all Perſons from ſo doing for the future, as Orders are given that the Laws againſt ſuch Offenders ſhall be ſtrictly carried into Execution.

By Order of his Excellency the Governor in Council,
January 16, 1772. JAMES SIMPSON.

Lands for Sale by private Contract.

A TRACT containing 1000 acres, fit for indico, hemp, and tobacco, ſituate on Mill Branch, in Amelia township, and bounded to the north on Edward Jackſon's land, and on all other ſides by lands of Hans-Michael Carle, John Weets, and John Kenline, having a compleat ſtream of water running through it, ſufficient to turn a ſaw or griſt mill.

A TRACT on Acabee, one of the moſt beautiful ſituated country ſeats in this province, not more than ſeven miles from Charles-Town by land, and about the ſame diſtance by water. The whole contains 400 acres, three hundred of which are in oak and pine wood, the reſt in paſture under fence. The dwelling houſe on it is of brick, with a large hall and parlour on the ground floor, and a paſſage and ſtairs in an entry between both; there are four bed-chambers above them, excluſive of the garret, which has two unfiniſhed rooms. The cellar is very convenient for a kitchen, being built and uſed for that purpoſe. On the ſouth part of the houſe is a new piazza, which overlooks an unimproved garden, quite down to the delightful river on which the whole is ſituated. Oppoſite to the houſe and garden the river is computed to be upwards of a mile wide, and abounds with a variety of fiſh, oyſters, &c. As there is a plenty of wood, bricks may be made to advantage, and thoſe at the landing will ſufficiently recommend the quality of the clay. Vaſt quantities of lime may likewiſe be burnt, the ſhell banks being very contiguous to the landings, and the wood not far to cart. The wild indico, which is of ſpontaneous growth, here flouriſhes luxuriantly.

A TRACT at Stono, St. Paul's pariſh, nineteen miles diſtant from Charles-Town, butting and bounding eaſtward and ſouthward on lands belonging to the eſtate of the late Robert MacKewn, Eſq; and lands of James Stanyarne, Eſq; weſtward and northward on lands of Mr. Iſaac Nichols, deceaſed, and Algernoon Wilſon, Eſq. This Tract contains 400 acres, and is well adapted for the culture of indico, corn, &c. about 70 acres has been cleared and planted with indico ſome years ago, and yielded profitably, but the low price which the firſt quality ſold for at that time, was the reaſon of its being ſoon after broke up as an indico plantation, and has been ever ſince lying uncultivated. On it is a tolerable plantation houſe. A great part of this tract is in wood of oak, hickory, and pine, and affords good cooper's ſtuff for any of the adjacent rice plantations. It's diſtance from the landing at Friend-Town, ſcarce exceeds two miles.

If the above lands are not ſold by the firſt of March next, they will then be LEASED out in ſmall tracts for any term of years not exceeding five. In the mean time, any chuſing to purchaſe, may treat in Charles Town, with BARNARD ELLIOTT.

LOST in the State-Houſe, on Wedneſday Evening, the 22d Inſtant, a BLACK LEATHER POCKET-BOOK, containing ſeveral Ship's Papers, ſome Receipts, Notes of Hand, Letters, &c. which are of no Value to any Perſon but the Owner.—Whoever will deliver it to JACOB HAM, behind the Beef-market, or JOHN TUKE, on the Bay, ſhall have TWO DOLLARS Reward, and no Queſtions aſked.

THE Subſcriber's Houſe and Lot in St. Philip's, Charles-Town, advertiſed ſome Months ago, is yet for Sale. The agreeable Situation of which, will ſufficiently recommend it, and renders a particular Deſcription unneceſſary. Apply to JOHN PARKER.

Who will diſpoſe of very cheap, a light genteel Phæton, and a good Landau, very convenient for a large Family in the Country.

Choice Land for Corn, Rice, or Indico.

To be ſold at public outcry, at the uſual place in Charles-Town, on Thurſday the 13th day of February next enſuing,

A Parcel of exceeding good LANDS, joining each other, on both ſides of Santee river, containing a large front on both ſides ſaid river, and a lake known by the name of JACK CREEK. Four hundred and fifty acres of which is choice river ſwamp, at five ſhillings per cent. quit rents; moſtly high indico land. Three hundred acres of very good high land, directly oppoſite to the former, at one ear of corn quit rent; very good for indico, hemp, or corn; the two parcels together making ſeven hundred and fifty acres, may be eaſily divided into two very convenient ſettlements, and is an extraordinary good range for all kind of creatures; on it is a large quantity of the beſt limeſtone. Theſe lands are bounded by lands of Joſeph Willingham, Widow Lenard, and Francis Courage; about fifty miles diſtant from Charles-Town.—Alſo a very valuable tract of three hundred acres of land, lying in St. Helena's pariſh, Granville county, about eight miles diſtant from Cooſawhatchie bridge, being on the head of New river; about one hundred and twenty acres of which is eſteemed as good rice land as any in the province, very convenient for back water, and erecting a water machine that may beat out what rice may be made thereon; the remaining quantity of land is very high and pleaſantly ſituated for a healthy ſettlement, and affords an excellent range for all kind of creatures. This land is bounded by lands of James Cuthbert, Francis Peloſ, and good high vacant pine lands.

The conditions of the ſale are, credit to the firſt day of January, 1773 paying intereſt, and giving approved ſecurity, if required, to ELIAS ROBERT.

N. B. The titles ſhall be produced on the day of ſale.

ALSO,

ANOTHER tract of two hundred and fifty acres of land in Prince William's pariſh, ſeven miles diſtant from Pocotaligo bridge, within half a mile of the main road; very ſuitable for a ſaw-mill, having two bold running branches running through it, and meeting in one juſt at the bottom of the tract, affords a large draught of water, ſufficient to work a ſaw-mill at all times. The land on each ſide of theſe branches are very high, and well timbered with the beſt of pine for ſawing, and a plenty of well timbered pine land joining it, yet vacant, twenty-eight miles diſtant from Beaufort town. This tract is bounded by lands of John Cox, and on all other ſides vacant.

The conditions of the ſale thereof is caſh; the titles will be produced on the day of ſale.

vicissitude of human things, by wishes and gratulations of happiness for the coming year: and if we duly estimate human life, of what vast importance is this addition to our span! of what infinite utility might be the instructions, which these friendly congratulations suggest! The year is past------the days, the weeks, the months are flown, and for ever, and irrevocably gone; and with them all opportunity to alter or undo, whatever in this period, we have done! If our actions have been virtuous and amiable; if humanity and benevolence have conducted our steps; if justice and honesty have directed our dealings; if religion and truth have influenced our behaviour: what a joy shall we find in the retrospect; we shall have no cause to regret that we are now another year nearer to eternity!---If, on the other hand, blackness and darkness involve our proceedings; if guilt and shame, if vice and folly only mark the former days---alas, how sad, how unpleasing the review! For what have we lived! Nay rather let us ask, for what do we live! And upon this enquiry we may well rejoice in the gracious permission of providence, to see another year before us; in which we may redeem the past, in which we may treasure up a happy store for our future comfort and review; if perhaps we may be allowed to see another year succeeding.

But, as rational creatures, should we not seriously put it to our hearts---? Can I promise myself another year? can I assure my life for the next twelve returning months? can I certainly say, that my existence shall be prolonged during the next annual circuit of the sun? alas! we want little information on this head. And certainly should want as little instruction, if, amidst the clamorous importunity of the passions, or the noisy tumult of the world, we would listen to the still voice of reason; would consider, determine, and be wise. For surely the single view of the past would teach us the importance of the coming hours. With the past all our pleasures are dead; of our guilty ones, the dire remembrance only survives: a faint memory alone, dark and doubtful traces, of our transactions remain: that which pained us most nearly, is well nigh forgotten, as much as that which most highly pleased us; and we seem in part dead to the foregoing, while entering, with all the glow of life, into the rising year. And as with years, so shortly will it be with our whole life: ere long, the solemn summons will approach, and we shall be called to that world and that state, where time shall be no more; where days, and months, and years, shall never again fall and rise; but one eternal day shall shine upon us. Can any thing be of equal concern? and can any reflection so well suit our entrance upon the present time? this neglected, every other pursuit, every other acquisition will be lighter than vanity: this eternity secured, every other loss will be perfectly insignificant?

Again, when we look back upon the past year, and see so many of our fellow-creatures vanished from the scene; so many of our friends taken from our embraces, and lost to our love; when we see the havock which time and death, in twelve short months have made: the consideration must awaken our attention, and arouse us to a due preparation for that solemn departure, from which no human being is exempt. And, if we rightly reflect, the goodness of God in extending our span, and allowing us yet a little more time, will appear in the most pleasing view; especially since the Christian Religion inspires us with so glorious expectations. For we may conceive this divine dispensation thus addressing us: "The past is over and irretrievable: the present is yours, and is highly improveable: your actions heretofore render you obnoxious to God: a change of conduct will, through faith, in the merits of the Redeemer, restore you to his favour, and obtain for you his protection. Consider then the unspeakable importance of the time before you: consider what an eternity is, an eternity, passed either in exquisite happiness or misery!

BRETHREN,

[illegible] nation, have long been fowin[illegible] ndling the fire of contention [illegible] ll rise into the flames of civil [illegible] nation, and end in its total [illegible] pon the brink of ruin---and [illegible] ention, and vigorous exertio[illegible] s the cause of Liberty so mu[illegible]; therefore this great evil [illegible] utmost caution. The Ame[illegible] hat some of the Patriots i[illegible] Junius) have been guilty of [illegible] ce, as well as ill policy, to [illegible] ody of a people; and the [illegible] reflections that have been ca[illegible] people of Scotland or Ireland, (although it must b[illegible] ledged, they have in general been too ready to fall i[illegible] measures of corrupt ministers) for there are many in [illegible] tries illustrious for the sublime virtue of patriotism. [illegible] cultivate love and harmony with our brethren in e[illegible] the kingdom; this will be a sure foundation for the [illegible] blessing we strive to preserve. If we are divided w[illegible] but our united efforts will win the day. We have e[illegible] that can animate good men, and inspire them with [illegible] firmness in the noblest cause; and we may look forv[illegible] joyful assurance, that under the smiles of Heaver[illegible] establish the throne of Liberty on a durable basis.

This is a critical day with the British nation, and public affairs are conducted with greater wisdom tha[illegible] been of late, the kingdom must inevitably fall. NOW is the time to establish that union between Great-Britain and the Americans, which is the only permanent foundation for the prosperity and glory of the nation. It is clearly evident, that this alone can long preserve Great-Britain from ruin; for if the Americans are disunited from her, and allied with another nation, it will be such a diminution of Britain's wealth and power, as must prove fatal to her. The Americans well know their weight and importance in the political scale; that their alliance, and the privilege of a free trade with them, will be courted by all the powers in Europe; and will turn the balance in favour of any nation that enjoys it. Their situation is such, their natural advantages so great, and so immense will be their sources of wealth and power, that instead of being subject to any foreign power (as some have vainly imagined) they may soon become the arbiters among nations, and set bounds to kingdoms---be the patrons of universal liberty, and the guardians of the rights of mankind.

The most eligible course for the Americans, and that which they probably will take, is, to form a government of their own, similar to that of the United Provinces in Holland, and offer a free trade to all nations in Europe. This plan will effectually secure the Americans from the invasion of foreign enemies, for it will be the interest of the European powers to prevent any one nation from acquiring more interest in America than the rest. By this maxim of policy, many states in Europe have been, and are still preserved; and the same policy among the nations will secure the Americans, if they should immediately dissolve their union with Great-Britain. And if she still pursues false maxims and arbitrary measures, they will undoubtedly soon do it. They have all the advantages for independance, and every temptation to improve them that ever a people had. By dependance on Great-Britain, and submission to her laws, the Americans sacrifice about six millions sterling, annually; and it is so much advantage to Great-Britain, as might easily be demonstrated. Therefore the voice of reason cries loud in the ear of Britain, to attend NOW to the complaints of the Americans------to repeal every unconstitutional law, remove every unreasonable burden, and compromise all matters in dispute, that the confidence and affection of the Americans may return to Great-Britain, harmony be restored and settled on a firm foundation; that no future contests may arise to break that union which is the life of Britain, and on which she must build all her hopes of future glory.

If Britain will cultivate the friendship of the Americans, she may have the most glorious prospect that ever was presented to the eyes of a nation. Her wisdom is to let them have an extensive trade, free from all unreasonable burdens. This would secure to the parent state the most extensive and lasting benefits; it would draw the wealth of America into her bosom. So vast will be the demand of the Americans for Britain's manufactures, that in process of time the number of her manufacturers may be increased many millions-----which will be an amazing addition to her wealth and power!--------This will enable Great-Britain to [illegible] Europe to rise in triumph among the nations, and command the whole ocean.-----These, and many other inestimable advantages Britain may receive from the Americans, with their love and good will: she will govern her conduct by reason, and discover the difference of sound policy---But let Britain never forget the great TRUTH, that INTEREST is the only thing that governs nations, and GOD ALONE is that will hold the Americans in their union with her: therefore we must make it their INTEREST to preserve the union, by treating them with parental kindness. Never invade their liberties, hearken to their complaints, and in every thing have a tender regard to their welfare and happiness. Thus Britain may live in peace and harmony with the Americans, be made rich and glorious by them, triumph in freedom, and reign unequalled among the nations, and ever to every time hereafter.

May Britain know in this her day, the things that belong to her peace---establish her union with America upon an unalterable foundation---and both nations receive such a blessing that be no more!

A GENUINE ANECDOTE of the late Mr. CHARLES CHURCHILL.

THOUGH Mr. Churchill led a very dissolute life, he was very humane, and the cry of distress never reached his ears in vain.---As he was returning home, about two o'clock in the morning, from a debauch, he was accosted in the Strand by a genteel young Girl, who in a tremulous voice asked him to accompany her to a Tavern, and treat her with a glass of wine: Mr. Churchill was struck with her manner of addressing him, which he observed was quite different from that of a common Prostitute, and, looking in her face, he saw it covered with tears; he felt her situation, and, giving her a guinea, bid her go home and get something to enliven her spirits, as she seemed much in need of it, and told her, he was certain she had not been used to that way of life. The poor Girl, unable to contain her gratitude for such unexpected generosity, dropped on her knees in the street, and implored ten thousand blessings on him who had thus preserved a Family from starving. He raised her up, and desired her to explain herself. "I am, Sir," said she, "the Daughter of an Officer, whose Regiment being broke, he is now reduced (with a Wife and five Children) almost to the point of death, we were brought to the last extremity, when I, unable to see my dear Parents in such a condition longer, resolved on this method to procure them sustenance; but your generous bounty has saved me from a dreadful profession, and will [illegible] such life to a [illegible] Family, [illegible] ---[illegible] forces [illegible] condition; Mr. Churchill felt that [illegible] proceeds [illegible] to be immediately led to this [illegible] and finding [illegible] amount that he had heard rather [illegible] exaggera[illegible] [illegible] doubtful a relief [illegible] accelerat[illegible] [illegible] beneficia[illegible]

 Carolina FLOUR in Barrels, and BUTTER in Firkins, of various Sizes, for SALE.

TO BE SOLD by private contract, by the ſubſcriber, and may be entered on immediately,

TWO valuable TRACTS of LAND, in St. James, Santee, pleaſantly ſituated on the ſea ſhore, oppoſite Cape Romain, and between 3 and 4 miles below the mouth of Santee river, which tracts contain 520 acres, large meaſure, 250 acres of which is exceeding good for rice, and may be made proper for indico or corn, about 150 acres of high land ſuitable for corn or indico, the remainder of the tracts are well ſupplied with ſawing timber, there is alſo a great quantity of oak wood on ſaid lands, and very convenient to a landing, of which there are three that large ſchooners may come up to. Upon the place are ſeveral convenient buildings, and a great many other improvements, with a ſaw-mill, which might be made very profitable with a little alteration; there is an exceeding proper place for a tide ſaw-mill.

Likewiſe to be SOLD,

Two other TRACTS, containing 1115 acres, more or leſs, joining the two former tracts: On the above tracts are, a large ſwamp, of which could be made a very good reſervoir for the lands on the ſea ſhore; there are alſo ſeveral other ſwamps that are proper for rice, in which ſwamps is a great quantity of cypreſs; the remainder of the lands are well ſupplied with good ſawing timber. The ſituation of the lands are ſuch, that a canal may be continued from one already made, proceeding from the mill and running near three quarters of a mile, and may be carried to the farther part of the lands without much trouble, which would be very neceſſary for conveying the timber down to the ſea ſhore, and turning a great quantity of water which would be of great ſervice to a mill.

Alſo, to be ſold, a PEW in the ſaid Pariſh Church.

Any perſon inclinable to purchaſe, may apply to the ſubſcriber, at Cainhoy, or to Mr. THOMAS JONES, Merchant, in Charles-Town, with whom the plats may be ſeen.

THOMAS WELLS.

SIMON TUFTS.

vicissitude of human things, by wishes and gratulations of happiness for the coming year: and if we duly estimate human life, of what vast importance is this addition to our span! of what infinite utility might be the instructions, which these friendly congratulations suggest! The year is past------the days, the weeks, the months are flown, and for ever, and irrevocably gone; and with them all opportunity to alter or undo, whatever in this period, we have done! If our actions have been virtuous and amiable; if humanity and benevolence have conducted our steps; if justice and honesty have directed our dealings; if religion and truth have influence our behaviour: what a joy shall we find in the retrospect; we shall have no cause to regret that we are now another year nearer to eternity!---If, on the other hand, blackness and darkness involve our proceedings; if guilt and shame, if vice and folly only mark the former days---alas, how sad, how unpleasing the review! For what have we lived! Nay rather let us ask, for what do we live! And upon this enquiry we may well rejoice in the gracious permission of providence, to see another year before us; in which we may redeem the past, in which we may treasure up a happy store for our future comfort and review; if perhaps we may be allowed to see another year succeeding.

But, as rational creatures, should we not seriously put it to our hearts---" Can I promise myself another year? can I assure my life for the next twelve returning months? can I certainly say, that my existence shall be prolonged during the next annual circuit of the sun? alas! we want little information on this head. And certainly should want as little instruction, if, amidst the clamorous importunity of the passions, or the noisy tumult of the world, we would listen to the still voice of reason; would consider, determine, and be wise. For surely the single view of the past would teach us the importance of the coming hours. With the past all our pleasures are dead; of our guilty ones, the dire remembrance only survives: a faint memory alone, dark and doubtful traces, of our transactions remain: that which pained us most nearly, is well nigh forgotten, as muchas that which most highly pleased us; and we seem in part dead to the foregoing, while entering, with all the glow of life, into the rising year. And as with years, so shortly will it be with our whole life: ere long, the solemn summons will approach, and we shall be called to that world and that state, where time shall be no more; where days, and months, and years, shall never again fall and rise; but one eternal day shall shine upon us. Can any thing be of equal concern? and can any reflection so well suit our entrance upon the present time? this neglected, every other pursuit, every other acquisition will be lighter than vanity: this eternity secured, every other loss will be perfectly insignificant?

Again, when we look back upon the past year, and see so many of our fellow-creatures vanished from the scene; so many of our friends taken from our embraces, and lost to our love; when we see the havock which time and death, in twelve short months have made: the consideration must awaken our attention, and arouse us to a due preparation for that solemn departure, from which no human being is exempt. And, if we rightly reflect, the goodness of God in extending our span, and allowing us yet a little more time, will appear in the most pleasing view; especially since the Christian Religion inspires us with so glorious expectations. For we may conceive this divine dispensation thus addressing us: " The past is over and irretrievable: the present is yours, and is highly improveable: your actions heretofore render you obnoxious to God: a change of conduct will, through faith, in the merits of the Redeemer, restore you to his favour, and obtain for you his protection. Consider then the unspeakable importance of the time before you: consider what an eternity is, an eternity, passed either in exquisite happiness or misery!

the kingdom; this will be a sure foundation for the blessing we strive to preserve. If we are divided w that can animate good men, and inspire them with firmness in the noblest cause; and we may look forv establish the throne of Liberty on a durable basis.

This is a critical day with the British nation, and public affairs are conducted with greater wisdom tha been of late, the kingdom must inevitably fall. NOW is the time to establish that union between Great-Britain and the Americans, which is the only permanent foundation for the prosperity and glory of the nation. It is clearly evident, that this alone can long preserve Great-Britain from ruin; for if the Americans are disunited from her, and allied with another nation, it will be such a diminution of Britain's wealth and power, as must prove fatal to her. The Americans well know their weight and importance in the political scale; that their alliance, and the privilege of a free trade with them, will be courted by all the powers in Europe; and will turn the balance in favour of any nation that enjoys it. Their situation is such, their natural advantages so great, and so immense will be their sources of wealth and power, that instead of being subject to any foreign power (as some have vainly imagined) they may soon become the arbiters among nations, and set bounds to kingdoms---be the patrons of universal liberty, and the guardians of the rights of mankind.

The most eligible course for the Americans, and that which they probably will take, is, to form a government of their own, similar to that of the United Provinces in Holland, and offer a free trade to all nations in Europe. This plan will effectually secure the Americans from the invasion of foreign enemies, for it will be the interest of the European powers to prevent any one nation from acquiring more interest in America than the rest. By this maxim of policy, many states in Europe have been, and are still preserved; and the same policy among the nations will secure the Americans, if they should immediately dissolve their union with Great-Britain. And if she still pursues false maxims and arbitrary measures, they will undoubtedly soon do it. They have all the advantages for independance, and every temptation to improve them that ever a people had. By dependance on Great-Britain, and submission to her laws, the Americans sacrifice about six millions sterling, annually; and it is so much advantage to Great-Britain, as might easily be demonstrated. Therefore the voice of reason cries loud in the ear of Britain, to attend NOW to the complaints of the Americans------to repeal every unconstitutional law, remove every unreasonable burden, and compromise all matters in dispute, that the confidence and affection of the Americans may return to Great-Britain, harmony be restored and settled on a firm foundation; that no future contests may arise to break that union which is the life of Britain, and on which she must build all her hopes of future glory.

If Britain will cultivate the friendship of the Americans, she may have the most glorious prospect that ever was presented to the eyes of a nation. Her wisdom is to let them have an extensive trade, free from all unreasonable burdens. This would secure to the parent state the most extensive and lasting benefits; it would draw the wealth of America into her bosom. So vast will be the demand of the Americans for Britain's manufactures, that in process of time the number of her manufacturers may be increased many millions-----which will be an amazing addition to her wealth and power!---------This will enable Great-Britain to a Princess of the House of Mecklenburgh?---What seduction was there in the mis-alliance between the Duke of York, and Lady Mary Coke? (first widow).---What seduction was there in the mis-alliance between the Duke of Gloucester, and Lady Waldegrave (second widow) the daughter of Mrs. Clements, who kept a milliner's shop in Pall-mall, and whose father sold brooms upon the moors in Yorkshire? She is the King's sister, as well as Mrs. Horton (third widow).----It is for the cunning of Lord Mansfield to discover what seduction was used to accomplish the mis-alliance between the Duke of Cumberland (in whose breast his Lordship deposited his opinion upon the Middlesex election) and a daughter of Simon Luttrell. Perhaps his Lordship is alarmed lest we should have a King Simon. Thanks to his Lordship's generous concern. But if we cannot prevent a King Simon, we will prevent a King Stuart. We wish, however, that his Lordship would acquaint the freeholders of this kingdom, Whether Henry Laws Luttrell, now the King's brother, is the legal representative of the county of Middlesex? And instead of troubling himself with any supposed seduction, of his friend the Duke of Cumberland, it is submitted to his Lordship, whether it would not better become him, to exert himself in discovering who seduced Hellfire Davis (now a noted prostitute upon the town); and there is no doubt Simon Lord Irnham might be of great service and assistance to his Lordship in making this discovery? Whether young Nesbitt was not seduced to marry her? And whether, in consequence of this marriage, the brothers did not dissolve the partnership with him; and he is not now confined in a madhouse?---Indeed Messieurs Court and Ministry, if you will complain of seduction, you ought to begin nearer home.

A Genuine Anecdote of the late Mr. CHARLES CHURCHILL.

THOUGH Mr. Churchill led a very dissolute life, he was very humane, and the cry of distress never reached his ears in vain.---As he was returning home, about two o'clock in the morning, from a debauch, he was accosted in the Strand by a genteel young Girl, who in a tremulous voice asked him to accompany her to a Tavern, and treat her with a glass of wine: Mr. Churchill was struck with her manner of addressing him, which he observed was quite different from that of a common Prostitute, and, looking in her face, he saw it covered with tears; he felt her situation, and, giving her a guinea, bid her go home and get something to enliven her spirits, as she seemed much in need of it, and told her, he was certain she had not been used to that way of life. The poor Girl, unable to contain her gratitude for such unexpected generosity, dropped on her knees in the street, and implored ten thousand blessings on him who had thus preserved a Family from starving. He raised her up, and desired her to explain herself. " I am, Sir," said she, " the Daughter of an Officer, whose Regiment being broke, he is now reduced (with a Wife and five Children) almost to the point of death, we were brought to the last extremity, when I, unable

A Few BALES of NEGRO CLOTH, and ſome good LONDON PORTER, juſt imported, and to be ſold reaſonably, for CASH, or good Bills of Exchange, by

THOMAS EVELEIGH.

Charles-Town, July 14, 1772.

THE Subſcriber is much obliged to his planting Friends, who, by landing their Crops at his Wharf [illegible] Years paſt, have thereby introduced it to Buſineſs.---[illegible] as Factor during that Time, purely to prevent his Friends being Sufferers by their intended Kindneſs to him, as it was very induſtriouſly inſinuated, that Rice would not ſell at his Wharf: But as he is now well convinced, and flatters himſelf all his Friends are fully ſo too, that their Crops landed in large or ſmall Parcels, will ſell altogether as well at his Wharf, as at any other in Charles-Town; and that any Gentlemen, principally concerned in the Factorage Way, will now have no Objection to receive and ſell Rice or Indico landed thereat: He therefore chooſes to decline that Buſineſs, finding it more than he is able to go through. He hopes his good Friends will ſtill land their Crops at his Wharf, where they may depend he ſhall take Care HIMSELF that their Boats have all poſſible Diſpatch.

As to the Safety and Convenience of his Docks and Stores, he is ſure there are none preferable to them in Town in thoſe Reſpects, and few (if any) Barns in the Country are cooler and more ſecure from Fire; and 'tis almoſt impoſſible for a Barrel of Rice to be loſt or ſtolen in Landing or Shipping at his Wharf. Such Gentlemen as uſe his Wharf conſtantly, may depend on never wanting Storage whenever they do not like the going Price:----No prudent Planter but muſt be convinced, that this is a Matter of the utmoſt Conſequence to him, as many, for theſe three Years paſt, have had their Crops (when landed in Town) diſpoſed of very much againſt their own Inclinations and Judgments, merely for Want of Storage; and this he is ſure has been the Caſe, particularly this Year ſeveral Times, notwithſtanding the Shortneſs of the Crop.

Meſſrs. GIBBES & HORT,

Who have had long Experience in the FACTORAGE BUSINESS in all its Branches, and confine themſelves to that only, have taken the Charge of his Scales, and will tranſact their Buſineſs on his Wharf.---To theſe Gentlemen he begs Leave to recommend ſuch of his Friends who are not otherwiſe engaged.

Chriſtopher Gadſden.

N. B. Any Gentlemen in Trade may depend on not wanting STORAGE for ſuch Parcels of Rice as they purchaſe at his Wharf.

GIBBES & HORT,

ACQUAINT THEIR FRIENDS,

THAT they continue the FACTORAGE BUSINESS in all its Branches, (on the uſual Terms) and for the Conveniency of good Storage, will tranſact it on Captain GADSDEN's Wharf, where they deſire thoſe of their Friends that it may be agreeable to, will Order ſuch Goods as they ſhall direct to their Care, being convinced that they will ſell as well there as at any other Place in Charles-Town. Conſtant Attendance will alſo be given at their other COMPTING-HOUSE on the Bay.----Their Friends will be ſupplied with proper Boats, agreeable to their Orders; and they hope to merit a Continuance of their Favors, by a ſteady Attention to their Employers Intereſt, eſpecially as they are determined to confine themſelves to the FACTORAGE BUSINESS only; and they aſſure their Friends that they are not in any wiſe intereſted in Captain GADSDEN's Stores, ſo that whenever they ſhall think it prudent to Store for a better Market, it muſt be ſolely with a View to their Friends Intereſt.

N. B. Wanted to attend on ſaid WHARF, a Perſon well qualified and recommended.

Charles-Town, October 24, 1771.

NOTICE is hereby given, That Meſſrs. TORRANS and POAUG, of Charles-Town, Merchants, have aſſigned all their Debts and Effects to the Subſcribers, in Truſt, for paying out of the Money to ariſe therefrom, ſuch of the Creditors of the ſaid TORRANS & POAUG, as ſhall, within Twelve Months from this Day, conſent and agree to receive a Dividend of their Debts, in Average and Proportion, as far as the ſaid Money will extend, and thereupon to execute general Releaſes, of their Demands againſt the ſaid TORRANS & POAUG: Their other Creditors are excluded from any Share of the ſaid Money.----- THEREFORE, thoſe who are willing to accept Dividends upon the Terms above mentioned, are deſired to ſignify ſuch Conſent, and tranſmit their Accounts, duly atteſted, within the Time above limited.

The Books of Accounts, &c. are in the Poſſeſſion of Mr. William Graham, (at a Store on Colonel Beale's Wharf) who is appointed and impowered by the Aſſignees, to receive and collect the Monies due to the ſaid TORRANS & POAUG, of which all Perſons concerned, are deſired to take Notice.

The Bill Creditors of the ſaid TORRANS & POAUG, are deſired to deliver into the Aſſignees, ſuch Bills of Exchange as have been returned proteſted, in order that proper Steps may be purſued for their Recovery.
